

COVER: The illustration on the cover is from A Treatise on the Steam Engine by John Farey (London, 1827). This ten-horsepower engine, built by Jukes Coulson and Company of London, is remarkably similar to the engine found in Haiti in 1927. Cornelius Von S. Roosevelt's interesting article on the Haiti engine begins on page 23.

Editor
Emory L. Kemp

Book Review Editor
Theodore A. Sande

University Editor
John Luchok

Design
Paul Stevenson / Peter Heiss

Editorial	1
By Emory L. Kemp
Alexander Parris: Innovator in Naval Facility Architecture	3
By Helen W. Davis, Edward M. Hatch, and David G. Wright
1818 Beam Engine and Sugar Mill in Haiti	23
By Cornelius Van S. Roosevelt
The Olean-Bayonne Pipeline: A Preliminary Survey	29
By Edward J. Lenik
Tracks and Timber	35
By John H. White, Jr.
The Rocky River Bridge: Triumph in Concrete	47
By Carol Poh Miller
Swing Bridges on the Rideau Canal	59
By Robert W. Passfield
Omnibus	65
Discussion	75
Reviews	83
Retrieval Card Section	93